Many Activities Coming to Utah's High Adventure Mountain Film Fest

OGDEN - Utah's High Adventure Mountain Film Festival, September 18-21, showcases high adventure activities with films, parties, awards and special panels in Historic Downtown Ogden.

Films range from rock climbing and ice climbing, to extreme skiing and snowboarding, and other mountain-sport categories. The "Above the Summit" category will highlight films featuring people who participate in the sports with disabilities. This category also features people who are positively involved in the community. The "Show Your Shorts" category consists of amateur film makers showing off their mountain sports films that are 20 minutes or less in duration. An international panel of judges will choose the best films from each category. Awards will be given to the top film in each category as well as the best film of the festival.

Films being premiered at Utah's High Adventure Mountain Film Fest include:

"White Water Jungle" - Tom Tatum's film stars kayaker Matt Wilson who traveled into uncharted territory in Madagascar to film first and second descents of rivers never before seen by kayak.

"Go Wild! Outside Las Vegas" - Doug Robinson's invitation to get out of town and explore the desert. There's rock climbing, only 20 minutes from The Strip at Red Rocks and beautiful hiking with the surprise of a lush oasis and a band of bighorn sheep. Nearby are dedicated mountain bike trails, which lead to the tantalizing thought of exploring further into Nevada.

"Crank it Up! The White Rim Adventure"- A new documentary by Mark Wellman features three paraplegics, hand-peddling specialized adapted mountain bikes, the One-Off, on one of the most rugged and forbidding mountain bike trails in the world, The White Rim Trail in Canyonlands National Park, Utah.

"Shake that Bear" - Chris Alstrin will be presenting his new film about climbers Rob Pizem and Mike Anderson wrestling with an epic offwidth crack climb in Zion National Park.

There will also be three panel-discussions featuring different high adventure topics. Discussions include:
